

Rolling Stone: The Covers 1972 - 2010

The Anthony Gallery

Friday 7 December 2012 – Sunday 7 April 2013

For the first time in Australian history, 150 of the greatest covers spanning over four decades of Rolling Stone Australia, are touring the country.

The cover of Rolling Stone magazine is a cultural icon. With an original masthead designed by the late, great psychedelic artist Rick Griffin, stunning photography and illustration by luminaries including Annie Leibovitz and Ralph Steadman, and the work of stellar art directors, Rolling Stone's covers have become as iconic as the stars that feature on them.

As the premier music and entertainment magazine in Australia, Rolling Stone has come to reflect both global and Australian popular culture with passion, honesty and attitude. Many of the covers on display have come to define an era - not just in terms of the artists that grace the covers, but through brilliant design, photography, illustration and typography.

An artisan travelling exhibition

Exhibition supported by:

artisan

Rolling Stone

Bon Scott

Rolling Stone Australia

Issue #493, February 1994.