

River Side

Karlee Rawkins

The Boyd Gallery

Friday 20 November 2015 - Sunday 10 January 2016

Karlee Rawkins has created an imagined river location for this exhibition, populated with plants and animals depicted in the artist's distinct style. Demonstrating her skill across an array of media this show includes paintings, drawings and prints. A short film focusing on Rawkins' working process and filmed in her studio provides further insight into her life and practice.

Rawkins' imagery of wildlife and flora examines the symbolic and totemic meanings nature holds within the human psyche and explores how the human, spiritual and natural worlds are intrinsically related. The references and inspirations within her work are both mythological and personal.

Rawkins has exhibited previously at the Tweed Regional Gallery with 'Mekong Drift', a series of works based on her experience travelling through SE Asia. Rawkins is a post-graduate from Southern Cross University, Lismore and currently lives on a stretch of the Never Never Creek near Bellingen, mid North NSW.
