

Margaret Olley: from the collection
The Margaret Olley Art Centre

Friday 12 August 2016 – Sunday 7 May 2017

This exhibition features an eclectic array of works by Margaret Olley from the Tweed Regional Gallery collection. A number of works that remained in Olley's possession for many years were gifted to the Tweed collection from the Margaret Olley Estate following the artist's bequest of $1million towards the development of the re-creation of her home studio at Tweed Regional Gallery. Many of these works have never been on public display, such as Kewpie doll painted by Olley when she was just 15 years of age.

Explore the stories represented by landscapes, still lifes and interiors completed by Olley across the many decades of her enduring career.
